

Welcome from the Headteacher

Dear Prospective Applicant,

Thank you for your interest in the role of Teacher of Science at Harefield School. This is a significant opportunity in a thriving school committed to academic excellence, inclusive education, and the holistic development of every student.

Harefield School is a place where staff are empowered to innovate, lead, and grow professionally. We are passionate about providing a learning environment where students are challenged and inspired by the teaching they receive and supported to become confident, capable, and curious learners.

We are looking for someone who is not only experienced and enthusiastic about their subject but also a passionate educator who can bring Science to life and empower students to find their voice.

I wish you the very best in your application and look forward to potentially welcoming you to our talented and committed team.

Warm regards,
Salma Riley

- Contribute to the development of schemes of work and departmental resources.
- Use data effectively to inform teaching strategies and personalise learning.
- Collaborate with colleagues within the Science department and across the school to support cross-curricular initiatives.
- Support whole-school initiatives and enrichment activities.
- Participate in professional development and maintain up-to-date subject knowledge.
- Uphold school policies and contribute to the wider school community and ethos.

The Ideal Candidate Will:

- Hold Qualified Teacher Status (QTS) or equivalent.
- Demonstrate excellent subject knowledge and a passion for Science.
- Have strong classroom management and communication skills.
- Be reflective, resilient, and committed to continuous improvement.
- Have experience teaching in a secondary school setting (NQTs/ECTs welcome to apply).

Why Join Harefield School?

- A welcoming and supportive school community with a commitment to staff development.
- Opportunities for career progression within a forward-thinking leadership team.
- Access to high-quality CPD and leadership training with opportunities to further develop your career.
- Access to the latest technology to assist in developing your teaching and learning
- A Cycle to Work Salary Sacrifice Scheme
- Access to a comprehensive Employee Assistance Programme
- A department with dedicated and passionate staff, ready for the next stage of its journey.

- A network of outstanding practitioners to collaborate with and learn from, both in school and across the Partnership Learning Trust which includes Queensmead and Northwood Schools
