WELCOME

Welcome to The Parker School. As Headteacher, I'm proud to lead a school with a strong sense of purpose, a proud heritage, and a bright future.

Having lived in Northamptonshire all my life, I care deeply about this community. I understand how vital a great school is to the life of a town, and I'm committed to ensuring The Parker is a place where every young person can thrive.

At The Parker, relationships matter. We are a school rooted in our community – inclusive, caring, and ambitious for every student. We set high expectations and provide the support and encouragement needed for students to meet them. Our ethos is built on mutual respect, kindness, and integrity.

We celebrate success in all its forms. Whether it's academic achievement, sporting excellence, creative performance, or community service, we take pride in every student's growth and contribution. Just as importantly, we value the character they show along the way.

Our aim is simple: to help every young person become the best version of themselves. That means not only achieving great outcomes, but also developing confidence, resilience, and a sense of responsibility.

I invite you to explore our website and discover more about our values, our work, and the many opportunities we offer. Whether you're a prospective family, a current parent or carer, or a member of the wider community, I hope you feel the warmth, ambition, and pride that define The Parker.
