RUSSIAN LANGUAGE ASSISTANT / TEACHER OF RUSSIAN
(up to 5 sessions per week)

WELCOME

I am delighted that you are considering this opportunity at North London Collegiate School.

This is an exceptional opportunity to contribute to a community that is redefining excellence in girls' education. The Sunday Times Parent Power Guide 2026 has recently named NLCS the Independent Secondary School of the Year 2026, and we are proud to be ranked the No. 1 girls' school in the country. This prestigious accolade reflects our outstanding academic achievement as well as the depth, breadth, and vibrancy of school life.

With additional awards for Independent International Baccalaureate School of the Year 2026 and Independent Secondary School of the Year in London 2026, NLCS offers an inspiring environment where passionate teachers are empowered to innovate, spark curiosity, and help girls achieve remarkable things.

North London Collegiate School (NLCS) was founded in 1850 by Frances Buss, an early pioneer of girls' education. NLCS is one of the country's most illustrious academic day schools.

The School provides an ambitious academic education and achieves some of the best results in the country. The focus in the classroom is on fostering a deep love of learning and our teachers are passionate subject experts. The School has a strong intellectual tradition but it is also defined by an ongoing commitment to innovation. The school's Ideas Hub is a centre for creative thinking and pioneering curriculum development.

Pupils benefit from an exceptional range of activities beyond the classroom through our co-curricular and academic enrichment programmes. We welcome over 250 visiting speakers per year, we offer 18 different sports, host over 40 concerts and several ambitious dramatic productions each year, publish multiple student-led magazines, and offer activities as varied as Model United Nations, Chess, VEX Robotics and Magic Club.

Our pastoral care is focused on developing happy, independent and resilient young women. Our pupils are free to be themselves at School but ready to embrace the opportunities of the world beyond NLCS. Our community is welcoming and inclusive and celebrates its rich diversity.

At NLCS, we deeply value our staff and are committed to their well-being and professional growth. We understand that a supportive and nurturing environment is crucial for everyone, not just our students. Our comprehensive staff development programme and strong support network ensure that our staff thrive both professionally and personally.

We are looking for a new Russian Language Assistant to start in September 2026. Our ideal candidate will be a committed Russian native speaker who possesses excellent language and literary skills, able to provide assistance with Russian teaching and capable of conducting conversation lessons in Russian at GCSE, A level and IB. The role is currently part time teaching 5 lunchtime sessions per week. For the right candidate there could also be an opportunity to take on some classroom teaching, this will be discussed at interview.

If you would like to join this dynamic and friendly community of pupils and staff, I would be delighted to receive your application.

VICKY BINGHAM
HEADMISTRESS

THE SCHOOL

North London Collegiate School has an international reputation for academic excellence, combined with exceptional pastoral care and extra-curricular achievement. NLCS is an academically selective girls' school. There are 790 students in the Senior School, 233 of them in the Sixth Form, and approximately 310 in the Junior School. The School takes pride in the religious and social diversity of its intake.

The School's aims are to provide an ambitious education for all its pupils and to enable each girl to make the most of her own gifts. The highest priority is to maintain a team of professional teachers to whom each pupil is important, and who can teach their subject(s) with enthusiasm and drive. All pupils are expected to learn to recognise academic excellence and realise that it is attainable.

Alongside these aims for the classroom, staff strive to make school a place where the whole personality can grow. Good relations between staff and pupils, and between girls themselves, are fostered. At NLCS, education is much more than passing examinations and the girls are encouraged to try themselves out in a variety of ways. Staff strive to maintain a community which is tolerant and teaches service to others.

Set in over 30 acres of parkland, the School has extensive facilities. These include a new Wellbeing Centre which underlines the School's commitment to ensuring that NLCS continues to provide as rounded and supportive a pastoral offering as is possible.

In 2025, 83.4% of GCSEs were a grade 9, and a notable 95.9% of grades were 9/8. At A-Level our students achieved an impressive 54.3% A* grades, 86.1% A*- A and 96.1% A*- B. In addition to A-Levels, we offer the International Baccalaureate in the Sixth Form and we have an outstanding record of success. Our students gained an average point score of 42.94 in 2025, placing us again among the best IB schools in the world.

Places are heavily oversubscribed, and entry is extremely competitive.

Our leavers receive offers from an impressive range of university destinations including Oxford, Cambridge, Harvard, Yale and Princeton, as well as other leading universities such as Warwick, Edinburgh, UCL and Imperial. We are extremely proud of our alumnae (Old North Londoners), who have achieved international prominence in a wide variety of career pathways from music, drama and the arts through to science, sports, politics and law.

We have an extensive schedule of extra-curricular activities including a weekly 'speakers' programme for all students in Years 11, 12 and 13. NLCS students regularly reach the finals of national and international competitions, such as Fin Schools, chess, Young Enterprise, coding and debating.

There is also a remarkable commitment to outreach and charity work, reflecting the rich and harmonious diversity of the School.

RUSSIAN LANGUAGE ASSISTANT

THE ROLE

Our ideal candidate will have both the commitment and ability to enthuse and motivate our students to ensure excellent progress is made by all. We require a dynamic, energetic and well-qualified native speaker of Russian possessing excellent language and literary skills, capable of conducting conversational lessons in Russian at GCSE, A Level and IB.

As the role is currently part time teaching 5 lunchtime sessions per week, we can offer flexibility around the working days. For the right candidate there could also be an opportunity to take on some classroom teaching, this will be discussed at interview

THE CURRICULUM

Students at NLCS may choose to study Russian from Year 10, following the Pearson Edexcel specifications for both GCSE and A level. At IB, the department offers courses at Standard Level, Higher Level and Ab Initio. Lessons are designed to develop all four core linguistic skills: reading, writing, listening and speaking. Speaking lessons begin immediately in Year 10 to ensure students build confidence and fluency from the outset. At GCSE, students explore a broad range of topics, including school life, future plans, hobbies, holidays, the environment, technology and healthy living. At A level, the curriculum includes the study of the film, Andrey Zvyagintsev's Leviathan, and the literary text, Natalia Baranskaya's A Week Like Any Other. Students also engage with wider cultural and historical themes, from the Bolshoi Ballet to the fall of the Soviet Union. Similar themes are explored within the IB courses, with particular emphasis on text-type emulation and effective communication across a variety of formats.

A significant proportion of students who study Russian in the Sixth Form go on to pursue the subject at university, often in combination with other languages or disciplines.

THE DEPARTMENT

The post-holder will join this outstandingly successful and thriving MFL department that annually sends excellent numbers of young linguists to study Modern Languages at Oxbridge and other top universities.

The Department aims to promote an enthusiasm for language learning, an interest in other cultures and an awareness of the importance of languages in today's society in addition to an independent approach to study. The members of the Department share a common ethos and the atmosphere is very collegiate: staff willingly share their expertise and resources, and volunteer for extra responsibilities as and when necessary.

The Department is well-equipped and resourced, it benefits from student devices and a variety of applications for innovative teaching. Each classroom has a high definition interactive touchscreen and provides staff and students the complete Microsoft Office 365 platform.

ENRICHMENT

Our extracurricular programme is also very extensive and includes our MFL society, Polyglot and magazine, The Linguist, as well as our annual MFL symposium.

The Russian Department takes part in annual competitions such as the Anthea Bell and Stephen Spender translation competitions. We have recently run a hugely successful joint trip to Riga with Marlborough College during which students took part in Russian lessons. We run a Russian Club for younger year groups to support uptake at GCSE.

There will be opportunities to contribute to the development of the Russian department as we are always keen to offer more enrichment and extra-curricular activities.

PROFESSIONAL DEVELOPMENT

PROFESSIONAL OPPORTUNITIES & DEVELOPMENT

There is a strong culture of professional development at the School, rooted in the expectation that all staff proactively seek to develop their practice throughout their time with us.

A fortnightly Teaching and Learning Forum offers staff the opportunity to present and discuss pedagogy. In addition to this, there are regular guided lesson observations with senior members of staff, to encourage colleagues to think critically about their own teaching and experiment with new approaches.

Internal promotion and professional development posts are advertised to all staff. In addition, the School also offers a number of generous external opportunities for staff, to expose them to wider educational experiences.

The School works closely with The Prince's Teaching Institute, investing in "unlimited" membership of the PTI, which offers our staff the opportunity to attend their full programme of events.

It is important for our teachers to refine their knowledge to further enhance the academic rigour of their lessons. To this end several of our academic staff lead PTI sessions in their own specialist areas.

As part of the wider Senior School, staff benefit from being able to attend the Senior Societies lecture series given by eminent speakers. Staff are also encouraged to share their passions through our Nicholson Lectures series. Colleagues present their own research on areas of academic or personal interest. These lectures occupy a prestigious place in our academic calendar, occurring fortnightly and are well attended by staff and students alike.

Following the opening of four partnership schools, NLCS Jeju (South Korea), NLCS Dubai, NLCS Singapore, and NLCS Kobe (Japan), staff in the UK have opportunities to be involved in monitoring visits to these overseas schools, and to be involved in the recruitment and training of their staff.

Teaching departments in all the schools are linked via Communities of Practice, which provide a forum for collaboration on projects between teachers and students, sharing of good practice and exchange of ideas.

All of these opportunities enable colleagues to become better and more rounded academics and teachers, and our staff relish the chance to get involved in such activities.

EQUALITY, DIVERSITY & INCLUSIVITY

North London Collegiate School condemns unequivocally discrimination and inequality in all its forms.

Our School was founded on the principles of respect and compassion, service to others, and active, positive participation in society and the wider world. We cannot change the past, but we must learn from it. It is not sufficient to say that we are not racist – we must be actively anti-racist in our actions, policies and educational delivery.

As a school, we are proud of our heritage of supporting, embracing and celebrating all the members of our community, as exemplified in our School Aims.

We recognise and celebrate the benefits of having a diverse school community, in which individuals value themselves, one another, and the different contributions that everyone can make to the school, our wider community and the world.

Our students are taught to value and respect themselves and others as they work hard to prepare to take leading roles in our future society.

In the provision of equal opportunities, the School recognises and accepts its responsibilities under the law and opposes discrimination based on the protected characteristics under the Equality Act 2010.

We oppose all bullying and unlawful discrimination on the basis that a person has a special educational need or learning difficulty, or because English is an additional language. We are committed to being an equal opportunities education provider, and to equality of opportunity for all members of our school community.

North London Collegiate School aims to ensure that all policies and practices conform with the principle of equal opportunities and comply with the public sector equality duty set out in section 149 of the Equality Act 2010.

We will tackle inappropriate attitudes and practices through our staff leading by example, through the Personal, Social and Health Education (PSHE) programme, through our supportive school culture and through our school's policies. Our teaching will reflect the diverse nature of our modern world and we will seek through our extracurricular activities, partnerships and School societies to challenge inequality and inequity, promulgate fairness and equality for all and to celebrate the differences that make us all unique and valuable members of society.

We believe that our School community is an agent for change in the world, and we continue to seek to ensure that more generations of young people leave North London Collegiate School empowered and enabled to take the next steps forward in their education and lives for their own benefit and for the good of society as a whole.
