Job Overview

Radley College invites applications for a Teacher of Computer Science to join the department from September 2026. This is an exciting opportunity to be part of a friendly and collegiate school community.

Radley's mission is to help every boy reach his potential, fostering growth in mind, body, and character. The role of a Radley teacher, known as a 'don,' is therefore central to the school's ethos. Dons are not only educators but also role models, cultivating the habits and values that define a well-rounded education.

A candidate will first and foremost be an excellent teacher. We welcome applications from recent graduates, early-career teachers, experienced teachers, and professionals moving from industry. Mentoring is available for those at the beginning of their teaching career. Enthusiasm for the subject is naturally important and a candidate should be a confident practical programmer and enjoy showing the beauty and intrigue of computation through their teaching. Extra-curricular offerings are valued such as clubs, competitions and creative projects. As a boarding school, we are looking for someone who is prepared to throw themselves wholeheartedly into the life of the College. Radley is a community and those who get most out of it – whether as boys or as teachers – are those who are prepared to embrace the breadth of the education that Radley offers. The opportunity exists to be part of the growth of the department and contribute greatly to the establishment of the new course. The capacity to offer a second subject would be desirable but not essential.
