

Post: Teacher of Economics

Salary grade: Main Scale or Upper Pay Scale if post threshold

Start date: September 2026

Role: Part time (0.6 fte), permanent

Closing Date: Monday 13th April 2026

We are currently looking to appoint a passionate and motivated Economics teacher to join our successful team. The school is rated 'good' by Ofsted following an inspection in April 2023. We continue to strive for excellence, both academically and personally, for our children and young people.

Economics is a popular and growing subject within the school and a popular choice at A level. Results in the department are steadily improving. Currently Economics teaching sits within our Maths faculty, with close working with the Humanities team as appropriate. Teaching rooms are well-equipped, each with an interactive whiteboard and visualisers. We also run many trips and projects that connect us with local schools and wider organisations; you will be joining an enthusiastic and creative team. A level teaching is part of our shared sixth form, JMF6, working with John Mason School.

Fitzharrys is a school which is growing and developing rapidly. Our ethos of Aspiration, Opportunity, and Integrity are being utilised by staff and students to enhance the education we deliver. This is an exciting time to join our Trust, with the opportunity to further drive forward standards at Fitzharrys. The role offers the successful candidate a supportive and collegiate culture, ambitious professional development, and the opportunity to make a difference for the Abingdon community. This is a very special place, and we are looking for the right candidate who is excited at the prospect of joining us and taking such a key role in our continued success in Economics.

Staff wellbeing is noticeably valued at Fitzharrys School, as part of the Abingdon Learning Trust we have our Workload and Well-being Charter. The Trust is pro-active in supporting staff to maintain the purposeful behaviour of students in class.

We are proud of our students, and in turn they are proud to be part of the Fitzharrys community. Parents are supportive of the work of the school, recognising our high aspirations for every student who attends; they are both challenged to achieve highly, and supported in doing so.

This is an exciting time to join us in our continued development. If you are committed to working with us and helping our pupils and students realise their potential, we encourage you to apply. If you would like to visit the school for a tour before applying, then please do get in touch.
