PART-TIME TEACHER OF DESIGN & TECHNOLOGY

The Norton Knatchbull School is looking for a Teacher of Design & Technology (DT) to start in September 2026. This is a part time (0.6 FTE) permanent position. The successful applicant will primarily teach DT, with the possibility of some Art teaching. We welcome applicants from either selective or wide ability settings, who are keen to work with high achieving and motivated students in a strong department. The post is equally suitable for an ECT or a more experienced colleague looking for a new challenge.

The DT department is a strong and welcoming team of 6 experienced staff and a full-time technician. At Norton Knatchbull School an average of 60% of students study DT at GCSE and numbers taking A Level DT are strong and growing, with significant numbers of students pursuing DT related study at degree level. The DT Department is well equipped with two specialist workshops which have been recently refurbished, two CAD design suites and a flexible space for food and textiles at KS3. The Department has a number of 3D printers and 2 laser cutters that students use alongside the workshop tools and equipment in their iterative processes. All students have the opportunity to work with a range of materials and processes including wood, plastics, graphics, Computer Aided Design, textiles, and electronics in their project-based learning, along with some food & nutrition at KS3 and a knowledge of at least two of these areas would be beneficial.

The successful applicant will be joining two vibrant, supportive and cohesive department teams. They will be expected to have the ability to teach DT up to GCSE and A Level.

Experienced colleagues will be expected to demonstrate a proven track record of examination success –and in the case of an ECT evidence of the potential to do so. We are looking for an excellent classroom practitioner who can inspire both colleagues and students and lead by example.

Deadline for applications: 9am – Tuesday 19th May 2026.

Interviews will take place on Thursday 21st May 2026.
