

Media & Film Studies

Nature of the Department and Courses Offered

Departmental provision planned for the 2026/27 academic year includes:

Media Studies	A Level	Eduqas	Currently approximately 280 students
Film Studies	GCSE	Eduqas	Currently approximately 30 students
Film Studies	A Level	Eduqas	Currently approximately 200 students

For the 2026/27 academic year the department is likely to have a team of seven teachers – two full time and five part time, together with a specialist technician.

The department achieves consistently good examination results, including in value-added terms, and sustains high levels of student retention. Progression to related subjects at university is high and we also encourage students to find apprenticeships.

The department have offered students a series of wider curricular related experiences, including studio visits and university taster days, with very positive student feedback received. There is strong support for those wishing to develop new approaches.

Information on each course can be found under the Courses tab on the College website.